HomeGoods

A photograph of a HomeGoods retail store. The building is a single-story structure with a light-colored facade. A prominent red metal awning covers the entrance area. Large glass windows and double doors provide a view into the store's interior, where various home goods are visible. To the left of the HomeGoods store, another building with a sign for 'ULTA BEAUTY' is partially visible. The sky is clear and blue.

Melinda Amisesh is a producer of contemporary African pottery based in Ghana. Since 1998, from the humble beginnings as a potter in the Ghanaian market, she has become a leading force in the international market for many years with as many as 15 employees. All products are handmade by skilled potters utilizing Ghana's rich craft tradition. The pieces are a blend of traditional and modern decorative value of the products. Matamises offers training opportunities for all people regardless of age and background and producers as well. matamises@yahoo.com
